2 OPTION A: ALBERT EINSTEIN'S THEORY OF HAPPINESS SOLD FOR $1.5M

3
4 Albert Einstein may be recognised for his theory of relativity but it is his recently discovered theory of happiness which has just been
5 sold at an auction for $1.56m. Two handwritten notes by the acclaimed German physicist which outline his advice for living a happy and 6 fruitful life went on sale in Jerusalem 95 years after they were written.

7 The notes were handwritten during Einstein's trip to Japan to deliver a series of lectures in November 1922. It was on this trip that the 8 then 43-year-old was informed he had been awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics. He felt extremely pleased but also overwhelmed by the 9 large crowd of Japanese people who rushed to see him. While he was in his room at the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo trying to make sense of 10 his feelings, a courier arrived with a delivery. The Nobel laureate composed two brief notes and gave them to him. According to the seller
11 of the notes, Einstein said that in the future they could be worth a great deal more than the cash tip he might have handed over instead.

12 "A calm and modest life brings more happiness than the pursuit of success combined with constant restlessness," reads one of the 13 autographed notes, which was written down on the hotel's stationery. The other, written on a blank piece of paper, says: "Where there's a 14 will there's a way."

15 The buyer and seller of the notes have wished to remain anonymous; however, the BBC reports that the seller may be the Japanese 16 messenger's nephew.
