Every Friday night I use to visit my mum. She lives in the countryside, close to a forest. I need to go by car because her house is away from civilization. One night, after my visit, I was driving back home when I saw somebody in the curve. There was a little girl who looked dirty and alone. I stopped the car and asked her if she needed help. She asked me if I could drive her to the next station so she could call her dad. During the trip she started to explain that there was a story about a girl who died in a car crash in the same curve where I picked her up. She explained with every detail that nobody came to rescue the girl, so she passed away alone pleading for her family. I thought to myself how creepy the story was and, when I turned my face to answer her to pressure to stop talking about it... Nobody was sitting next to me. The girl was the girl from the curve!!
